Biographical Sketch

Una Roberts Lawrence (1893 – 1972) served as leader and writer for the Woman's Missionary Union and the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention for much of the twentieth century. The daughter of Hulett Wayne and Mary Moffitt Roberts, she was born August 6, 1893, in Gainesville, Arkansas. She graduated from Cabot High School (where her father served as principal) in 1910; earned an A.B. degree from Central College in Conway, Arkansas in 1918; and a B.T.M. degree from the Woman's Missionary Union Training School in Louisville, Kentucky in 1919. Lawrence also attended Ouachita College in Arkadelphia, Arkansas (1909 – 1910) and the University of Louisville (1917 – 1918). Active in Southern Baptist life, she dedicated more than thirty years of service to the Southern Baptist Convention. She served as the Arkansas state Sunbeam Band leader (1915), the young people's secretary for the Woman's Missionary Union (1916 – 1926), and the mission study editor for the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention from 1926 to 1947.

Aside from Southern Baptist service, Una Roberts worked as a public school teacher and piano instructor in Arkansas before beginning her active career in work for the denomination. Her numerous books include: The King's Own (1920), Cuba for Christ (1925), Just Around the Corner Tales (1926), The Life of Lottie Moon (1927), Pioneer Women (1929), and The Word of Their Testimony (1932). Una Roberts married railroad employee, Irwin Lawrence, February 25, 1920, after a six-year courtship. She died on January 13, 1972 in Jacksonville, Arkansas and is buried in the Mount Moriah Cemetery in Kansas City, Missouri.

Scope and Content Notes

The Una Roberts Lawrence Collection includes twenty-seven linear feet of material spanning from 1839 to 1970, with the bulk of the material dating in the 1920's – 1940's. Many of the materials from the 1800's are transcribed versions of original correspondence and minutes. The Southern Baptist Historical Library and Archives received the Lawrence Collection in 1985.

The Una Roberts Lawrence Collection comprises one component of the Home Mission Board materials in the SBHLA and is one of the most valuable portions of those materials. It is divided into two major sections (professional papers and personal papers), and then into various sub-series within each of those sections.

The professional papers section contains material Lawrence collected during her thirty plus years of service to the Southern Baptist Convention. Lawrence, in her position as mission study editor for the Home Mission Board, accumulated an assortment of information on Southern Baptist's home mission efforts in the early decades of the twentieth century, including correspondence with missionaries, articles about missions, biographical data on missionaries, photographs, typescripts from original documents, clippings, and various publications. Her collection provides insight into various outreaches of the Home Mission Board, including black, Cuban, Indian, Italian, Jewish, Mexican-American, mountain, New Orleans, and Panama missions and also missions with migrant workers. Historical materials on the Home and Foreign Mission Boards, Baptist work in various portions of the nation, and the Woman's Missionary Union are also part of the collection.

The personal papers portion of the Lawrence Collection is divided into two sub-series: correspondence and subject files. The bulk of this section is comprised of correspondence between Una Roberts and her fiancé and later husband, L. Irwin Lawrence. Mr. Lawrence was a railroad employee and spent much time traveling, therefore necessitating the need for copious correspondence between himself and Roberts. Largely through their letters, Roberts and Lawrence maintained a six-year courtship before marrying in 1920. They wrote hundreds of letters to one another as a means through which they sustained a distance relationship. Correspondence has been divided by person and year. Most of the subject files of the personal papers portion of the Una Lawrence Collection provide information about Lawrence's life before she entered Southern Baptist work.

Files in the Lawrence Collection were transferred to the Southern Baptist Historical Library and Archives from the Home Mission Board in 1985. The files had originally been stored in cardboard file cabinets (at the HMB) in poor environmental conditions. Additionally, much of the collection is on highly acidic paper. The existing alphabetical arrangement was retained in most of the sub-series portions of the collection. An alphabetical arrangement was established for the subject files and Woman's Missionary Union sub-series of the professional papers portion of the collection, and also for the entire personal papers portion of the collection. Additional Home Mission Board posters from the Lawrence Collection are located in the map case of the archives.
