Biographical Sketch

Born in Hazel, Kentucky in 1922, Henry Franklin Paschall received baptism at age 14 at Oak Grove Baptist Church in Henry County, Tennessee. Following his ordination in 1941, Paschall attended Union University and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. Following his graduation from Union University, Paschall married Olga Bailey, with whom he had two children. Early in his pastoral career, Paschall was a part-time pastor at several churches in both Tennessee and Kentucky. In 1951, Paschall became the pastor of First Baptist Church in Bowling Green, Kentucky. Five years later, he became the pastor of First Baptist Church in Nashville, Tennessee, where he served until his retirement in 1983. He died in Nashville in 2009.

Paschall participated in many aspects of Baptist life. He served on the executive committees of the state conventions for both Kentucky and Tennessee. He was a trustee of Belmont College (now Belmont University) and Baptist Hospital in Nashville, Tennessee. A frequent speaker at a variety of evangelistic conferences, the Tennessee Baptist Convention, the Southern Baptist Pastors' Conference and the Southern Baptist Convention, Paschall served as the president of the latter from 1966 to 1968.

Publications by Paschall include: The Gospel for an Exploding World, Making Jesus Lord, The Teachers Bible Commentary, Identity crisis in the church : the Southern Baptist Convention Controversy.

Scope and Content Note

The H. Franklin Paschall Papers consist of 27 linear ft. of material. Included in the collection are correspondence, engagement files, subject files, publications, reports, and audio tapes. The collection covers the time period 1956 to 1983.

Generally the Paschall papers document the ministry of a downtown Southern Baptist pastor and an influential denominational leader. The material includes data on some of the major areas of interest to Southern Baptists from 1956 to 1980. They include: race relations, Vietnam conflict, 1960 election, and school prayer. Denominational issues such as the Ralph Elliott controversy, Baptist polity, Dale Moody controversy, Southern Seminary, inerrancy debate, fundamentalism, and liberalism are documented in the papers. Paschall was also involved in the drafting of two Baptist statements - the "Baptist Ideals" and the "National Crisis statement (race relations) of 1966.

Information on First Baptist Church of Nashville and First Baptist Church of Bowling Green is included in the papers. The collection includes papers related to the Tennessee Baptist convention and the Nashville Baptist Association.

Dr. Paschall's sermons are not included in the collection, except for 37 tape recordings of messages.

No internal arrangement has been done on the papers within folders.
