Biographical/Historical Sketch

Albert Wardin, Jr. was born March 11, 1928, the first child of Anna and Albert Wardin of Portland, Oregon. He grew up on the family dairy farm in the Portland area. He received his B.A. degree from Willamette University in Salem, Oregon, in 1946, and, a year later, he received his M.A. in history from Stanford. After Stanford, Wardin went to Western Seminary in Portland, where he got the bachelor of divinity degree. He completed his Ph.D. in history at the University of Oregon, writing his dissertation on Baptists in Oregon.

Wardin taught at Western Seminary in Portland for a total of eight years. In 1967, he began a long career as history professor at Belmont University in Nashville, Tennessee. He started collecting material on Russian Baptists because of his family connection with Russian Baptists. The family interest collection began in the 1960s and grew to a massive collection. It resulted in Wardin's publication of a work that reflected decades of research and investigation, Evangelical Sectarians in the Russian Empire and the U.S.S.R.: A bibliographic Guide. Published by the American Theological Association and Scarecrow Press in 1995, it is a mammoth work that is almost beyond description. Much of the material in the collection is cited in the bibliography.

Wardin retired from teaching at Belmont University in 1993, but he continues his research and writing, including work on Baptists in Russia and Eastern Europe. During his career, he published at least twelve books and numerous articles on Baptists, many related to Baptists in Russia and Eastern Europe. A short list of those publications follows:

See the Fall, 2010 issue of Tennessee Baptist History for information on Wardin and his writings. Wardin donated the material to the Southern Baptist Historical Library and Archives in 2012 and 2013 and assisted the staff in the organization and identification of material in the collection.

Scope and Content Note

The Albert Wardin Russian Baptists and Evangelical Sectarians Collection reflects more than 50 years of research and collecting material related to Baptists and Evangelical sectarians in Russia and Eastern Europe. The collection is a composite of research notes, articles, and copies of publications and documents on Baptists and evangelicals in Eastern Europe. The collection is divided into twenty-four topical series to assist researchers. The biographical series includes files on significant figures in Baptist life in Russia and the Soviet Union.

While most of the material focuses on Baptists, the collection includes extensive material on Mennonites, Pentecostals, Lutherans, Methodists, and Plymouth Brethren. The collection documents the issue of church and state in Russia under Tsarist rule and during the Soviet period. It also records the impact of Evangelical Christians and Sectarians on Baptists in Eastern Europe. Material is included on the influence and involvement of Germans in Russian Baptist life.

The collection includes extensive material on Mennonites and other denominations in Russia and how they interacted with Baptists. The papers include material on the effect of several 19th century movements, including Pashkovism and Pietism. The Pentecostal movement in the 20th century is also reflected in files in the collection.

The majority of the collection focuses on Baptists in Russia during the days of the empire and the Soviet period. The story of the Stundists movement is thoroughly documented in the collection. The development of Reform Baptists (Initsiativniki) in the 1960s is also recorded in the material.

In the folder listing below, some files include reference numbers to items in Wardin's Evangelical Sectarians in the Russian Empire and the U.S.S.R.: A bibliographic Guide. The guide provides additional information on the entries. Additional material related to Baptists in Russia and Eastern Europe, donated by Albert Wardin, can be found in the book, microfilm, and serials collection of the SBHLA.

Arrangement

The collection is divided into 24 series. Files within each series are arranged in alphabetical order by folder title. The items in the oversized series are filed in no particular order.
